

Contents

	Page
Acknowledgements	5
Quick Guide to the Herdsure® Cattle Health Improvement Service	6
Introduction	6
What are the main benefits for the veterinary practitioner?	7
What are the main benefits for your farmer clients?	7
Main features of the service	7
Key to symbols used throughout the protocols	8
The three levels of health status within the protocols	8
What are the roles of AHVLA and the veterinary practitioner?	9
Getting started	10
What happens next?	10
Cattle Health Certification Standards – (CHeCS)	11
Pen Cards	11
Background to cattle health management	12
Farm health planning	12
‘Proactive’ cattle health management	13
AHVLA’s approach to supporting cattle health management	14
Facilitating health management	14
Use of the protocols	14
Descriptions of the levels of ‘health status’ within the protocols	14-15
The importance of biosecurity to the success of cattle health improvement	16
Procedures for added animals	16
Participating in the Herdsure® Cattle Health Improvement Service	17
Service instructions	17
Registering the veterinary practice	17
Enrolling farms	17
Definition of a registered herd	18
Definitions of cattle classes according to age and type	18
Sampling and testing	19
Submitting samples	19
Statistical sampling	20
How everything works	20
The supporting system	20
Identifying and recording cattle against sample numbers	20
Additional testing of cattle from Herdsure® herds	21
Reporting of Herdsure® test results	22
Telephone advice as part of the service	22
Bespoke consultancy	22
Invoicing for Herdsure® services	22

THE PROTOCOLS	Page
Chapter 1
Herdsure® protocol for bovine viral diarrhoea (BVD) in cattle herds	23
Contents	25
Chapter 2
Herdsure® protocol for Johne's disease in cattle herds	43
Contents	45
Chapter 3
Herdsure® protocol for liver fluke infection in cattle herds	63
Contents	65
Chapter 4
Herdsure® protocol for leptospirosis in cattle herds	87
Contents	89
Chapter 5
Herdsure® protocol for infectious bovine rhinotracheitis (IBR) in cattle herds	109
Contents	111
Chapter 6
Herdsure® protocol for neosporosis in cattle herds	133
Contents	135
Appendices	151
Appendix 1: Example of a sampling submission worksheet
Appendix 2: Ear tag annex
Appendix 3: Sampling instructions
Appendix 4: Instructions for pooling individual milk samples for BVD
Appendix 5: Annual herd progress report
Appendix 6: Example of a report
Appendix 7: Sampling rules
Forms	167
FORM A: Registration form for veterinary practices
FORM B: Registration form for farms
FORM C: Unscheduled submission form
FORM D: Herdsure® Form D Accreditation Application & Compliance Declaration

Acknowledgements

We would like to thank all of the agencies, organisations and veterinary groups for sharing their experiences and knowledge in the area of cattle health planning.

We would also like to thank the British Cattle Veterinary Association (BCVA) for its support and guidance.

Special thanks go to Baldrand Farm Practice (Lancaster), Bishopton Veterinary Group (Ripon), Drove Veterinary Hospital (Swindon), Vale Veterinary Group (Tiverton) and Ystwyth Veterinary Practice Ltd (Ceredigion) for all of their help and support during the pilot phase of this service.