

Animal &
Plant Health
Agency

APHA Briefing Note 08/23

Certification of highly refined products intended for human consumption

Date issued: 22 February 2023

Purpose

To update certifiers on the new Export Health Certificate (EHC) requirements for highly refined products intended for human consumption for export to the EU.

Background

Highly refined products are listed in Section XVI of Annex III to Regulation \(EC\) No 853/2004 (as amended).

In Delegated Regulation \(EU\) 2022/2258, and Implementing Regulation \(EU\) 2022/2504 of 19 December 2022, the EU expanded the scope of the definition of 'highly refined products' to include food flavourings and fat derivatives (e.g., cholesterol, and Vitamin D3 derived from lanolin) intended for human consumption.

In the days following the issue of this briefing note, the updated EHC 8399 for highly refined products will replace the previous version of EHC 8399 on EHC Form Finder. Exporters will then not be able to apply for the previous EHC version.

Action

Certifiers should note that fat derivatives (e.g., cholesterol, and Vitamin D3 derived from lanolin) must be subject to a specific risk mitigating treatment as set out in the certificate.

APHA is an Executive Agency of the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs and also works on behalf of the Scottish Government, Welsh Government and Food Standards Agency to safeguard animal and plant health for the benefit of people, the environment and the economy.

Certifiers should note that food flavourings must be authorised in accordance with Regulation \(EC\) No 1334/2008.

Certifiers are permitted to use the version of the EHC 8399 that existed before this update for a transitional period until 15 July 2023, if signed no later than 15 April 2023.

Beginning on 16 July 2023, certifiers will not be able to use the previous version of EHC 8399 and must use the updated EHC 8399 for all products that are in scope of the updated EHC.

Further Information

APHA's Centre for International Trade – Carlisle

email: exports@apha.gov.uk

Telephone: 03000 300 201

APHA is an Executive Agency of the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs and also works on behalf of the Scottish Government, Welsh Government and Food Standards Agency to safeguard animal and plant health for the benefit of people, the environment and the economy.